Hague, July 16.

'THE Plan for disbanding some Companies of the Switz Regiments in the Service of the States is made, and sent to the Council of State to be put in Execution. It is almost upon the same Foot with that which was made the 4th of June last. But the Council of State still maintain their Protestation of the 12th of June against it. On Monday last a Letter was remitted to the Assembly of the Generality, from the Canton of Berne, dated the 2d Instant, which complains, but in very civil Terms, of the Breach they are making of a Treaty; but this comes too late, for the Resolution was already taken and pass'd. A Letter to the Council of State from the said Canton, was at the same time deliver'd, which is full of Elogiums to that Council, for having so heartily contended for the maintaining of the Treaty between the Republick and that Canton.

'In Consequence of the favourable Resolution which his Britannick Majesty has taken for facilitating the Enlargement of the Swedish Ministers, it has been given to understand here, that as soon as the Declaration we have mentioned of the Regent of France shall be arrived in England, Count Gyllemburg will be sent to Sweden upon one of the King's Ships, which Ship shall bring back Mr. Jackson. And at the same time, his Britannick Majesty will agree to the Releasement of Baron Gortz, upon Condition that he be immediately transported by Sea to Sweden, and that the States do signify to his Swedish Majesty, that because of the Character and Conduct of that Baron, and the divers Troubles and Inconveniences he has occasioned to them, they hope and desire that he will be no more sent to Holland, for that they cannot receive him upon any Pretence whatsoever. However favourable this Declaration is, the Swedish Secretary finds Fault with it; but little Regard is paid to his Reflections.

'The Sieur Caradin Secretary of the Czar, complain'd some Days ago of divers injurious Libels which have been published here for some time past in Prejudice to the Czar; who has lately given to the high Allies fresh Assurances of his sincere Intention of making good all that he has engag'd for in the Northern Alliance. It is remark'd for some time past, that a good Understanding is form'd between the Court of Vienna and that of the Czar. And 'tis assured, that Baron Heems the Imperial Minister, has Order from his Court, to make important Propositions to his Czarish Majesty when he is arrived here, and that the Marquis de Prié had also the same Order, which he should have executed, if the hasty Departure of the Czar had not hindred his waiting upon him at Namur, as he intended to have done. 'Tis not doubted that these Propositions relate to the War with the Turks.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from France.

From the Paris News-Letter.

Paris, July 21. The Lords who were put into the Bastille on Account of the Request against the Dukes are releas'd. The Jesuits have received Orders from their General at Rome, to remain quiet, and not concern themselves in any Manner in the Affair of the Constitution. They write from Port Louis, that two Ships are arrived there from the Indies richly laden. Letters from Barcelona of the 5th Instant advise, that they heard by a Genoese Ship arrived there, which had put in at Port Mahon, That there had been a great Disorder there, by reason of a Quarrel between the English Garrison and the Inhabitants, wherein 60 Persons were kill'd or wounded. But the Governour, who was at that Time out a Hunting, returning speedily, put an End to the Dispute, and after having examin'd the Cause, threw 17 of the Soldiers into Dungeons.

London, July 15.

We hear that M. To the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Carlisle.

My Lord,

BEING now, as I hope, come to an End of the Unhappy Difference between your Lordship and my self; I beg Leave to conclude this Matter, in the same publick Manner in which I began it. When I publish'd my first Advertisement, I no more suspected that your Lordship was the Person to be named against Me, than that I my self was. The only Reason of my chusing that Method was, because there was no other Method in the World, which could have put a Stop to an Infamy upon my self, which must immediately have ruin'd my Reputation in the tenderest Point; and could never have been remedied by Any Future Defence of mine; because That would never probably be seen by great Numbers of Those who would have received the strongest Impressions from Dr. Snape's Accusation; and because it could not come out till long after that Infamy had been spread and fix'd in the World. And the only Reason, why I have thought my self obliged to pursue this Matter so close, and to answer to every little Story, as fast as They have succeeded one Another, is, because I know the Number and Prejudice of Those who are (without Any just Cause) my Enemies, and who either cannot, or will not, distinguish between the first Great Accusation, and the lesser following ones: but who would condemn me of the whole, if I suffer'd any little Scandal to lie upon me at last, without giving that Answer to it which I knew to be True and Undeniable. I could not possibly avoid making some Observations upon your Lordship's Remarks, not only that the utter Unjustifiableness of the first Charge might still more appear; but that I might give a positive Answer to Two Charges, which were left upon me, as True, in your Book. And I troubled the World once afterwards, because I could not think it a justifiable thing, to write to Dr. Kennet, in order to induce Him, to think He was contradicted even by My self in his Testimony, and to move Him to alter it, by affirming to Him One Part of a Matter misreported, without mentioning the Other Part, which He had a Right to know upon such an Occasion.

I hope I have not, in any Part of my Just Concern for my own Good Name, (without which, Life it self would be uneasy to me,) suffer'd Any Expression, or Word, of too great Severity, to escape me. I would have it remember'd that I have concern'd my self all along with Matters of Fact, and not with the Inward Motives of them; and oppos'd an Attack, the first Design of which your Lordship again unwarily owns (in your last Letter to Dr. Kennet) you yourself not only knew of, but form'd, in opposition to my First Solemn Appeal to God; and an Attack, which must have made me abhorr'd by every Honest Man, if it could have succeeded. If I have seem'd to Any, too sollicitous thro' this Affair; I wish, every one would make it their own Case, and then judge of it: And I desire it may be consider'd that, as it was more deeply laid, so a great deal more depended upon it, than appears at first; and that it is plain from the whole Conduct of Resentment, ever since the Preaching of my late Sermon, that it is not my self, or my Reputation alone, that hath been struck at; but that much greater Matters must have been affected, if I either could not have defended my self with the Utmost Justice, or would not have done it with the Utmost Vigour.

I lament the Unfortunate Occasion, as much as Any One can do. I would have done any thing honourable, to have avoided the Method I have taken. But your Lordship brought me under the Unhappy Necessity. I have always paid a Great Regard and Respect to you. I have never given the least Encouragement to the Publication of Any thing in this Affair, but my own own Necessary Defence; and would do any thing in my Power to hinder every Instance of Abusive Treatment: Tho' indeed it hath all arisen, not from any part of my Conduct, but from your Self entirely. I still think with Pleasure upon the Zeal which, in a Critical Season, you express'd for your King and your Country: And I heartily wish it may ever be remember'd to your Honour. What Inadvertence; or what hastiness of Thought; or what Motive hath produced All this, I have left, and still do leave to Almighty God, who alone can judge perfectly of our Sincerity; and knows and considers the Circumstances of All our Actions. As I have done nothing on my part, but what appear'd necessary for my own Defence; so, after having undeniably clear'd my own Reputation in every Particular, I must beg Leave to declare, that I have No Resentment of this Whole Affair, but what is perfectly consistent with my professing, with the utmost Integrity of Heart, that I should think my self happy in Any Opportunity of shewing your Lordship and the World, how truly I am, my Lord, your most faithful humble Servant.
